

Robert Lessey

Robert Lessey is a National Account Manager with National Truck Protection.

Experience

Robert is seasoned sales professional with over 20 years of experience in the field. Prior to joining National Truck Protection in March of 2010, he was a successful outside sales representative in a number of fields. In his early career, he was highly successful in the challenging field of office solutions. Over 15 years, at global organizations like Océ, Canon and Konica, he earned a spot in various President's Club events, frequently won awards such as "sales rep of the month", "best product demo" and even "best new sales rep" at the beginning of his tenure in the field. He was consistently a top earner, usually producing 110% quota or above. Eager to seek out a challenge in a new field, he joined National Truck Protection in 2010. He is a successful trainer, spending time with managers and sales reps in the field to help them not only increase their sale of NTP products but also increase their overall sales skill to drive success. He is a warm and friendly voice for his customers. He succeeds not only in his sales numbers but also in the way he builds relationships with his dealers across the US.

He resides in NJ with his wife Connie. He loves to travel. He's also an avid golfer and scuba diver.
