

Jeremi Guditis

Eighteen years ago I started my career in the trucking industry as an Assembly Specialist in the Peterbilt Denton Plant. I worked in the plant for fourteen years and had the benefit working my way through the plant in various jobs such as trimming sleepers, painting chassis/trucks, running paint robots and quality assurance before stepping into management. While in management I got to manage teams in Cab Trim, Quality Assurance, Paint and Continuous Improvement before heading over to the Division side of the business. I started my job in the Used Truck side of the business a little over two years ago and have hit the ground running ever since then. I enjoy taking my experience from the plant and seeing it pay off on the Used side of the business. It is not too often that you can have a job where you get to see the start of the business and then see it all the way through to the secondary market. I have enjoyed my time on the Used Truck side of things and hope to stay in this role for a long time. My time in the UTA has given me the opportunity to meet some great people as well as the opportunity to learn from the wealth of knowledge that the members have. I think there are a lot of things that we are doing right but as always there are always room for improvement and I hope to continue those efforts and help to drive some change and improvements.

As far as my life outside of work and the UTA my family keeps me busy. I have been married for almost 14 years (I remember our anniversary more than my wife) to the lovely AnnByron Guditis. Yes, her first name is AnnByron, not Ann, but she also goes by AB. We have three amazing kids (20, 12 & 10) that we invest a lot of time into and pray and hope that we are raising them right. AnnByron and myself like to think of ourselves as Glam Hippies(her more than me) as we are into the organic and holistic side of things and definitely dabble in the wine tasting side of things. We are not sommeliers but we can definitely send you in the right direction when it comes to red wines. As far as hobbies, we really do not have one that leads the way but like most, we enjoy anything that gives our family a new experience or lasting memories.
